Secretary Gray Celebrates Wyoming Supreme Court's Dismissal of Appeal in Newcomb v. Chuck Gray Lawsuit

CHEYENNE, WY – On March 25, 2024, the Wyoming Supreme Court dismissed an appeal brought by Tim Newcomb to remove Trump from the ballot in Wyoming, Newcomb v. Chuck Gray. This follows a previous dismissal of Mr. Newcomb's lawsuit in Wyoming District Court, and a unanimous decision from the Supreme Court of the United States keeping Trump on the ballot in 2024.

"I have been working hard to keep President Trump on the ballot," Secretary of State Chuck Gray said. "I'm extremely pleased with the Wyoming Supreme Court's dismissal of Mr. Newcomb's outrageously wrong lawsuit. Radical leftists and liberal elites have tried everything they can to weaponize the Fourteenth Amendment against Trump and the American People, but this dismissal marks continued vindication for the truth and for liberty. As Secretary of State, Wyoming's chief election officer for the state, I will always fight to ensure the people of Wyoming can choose who to elect for themselves."
