Wyoming Secretary of State to Join Legislator Town Hall, Discuss Legislative Accomplishments of 2025 Legislative Session

CHEYENNE, WY – On Saturday, March 29th at 2 p.m. at the Laramie County Library's Cottonwood Room, Secretary of State Chuck Gray will participate in a town hall with several members of the Wyoming Legislature, including Representatives Ann Lucas, Steve Johnson, and Gary Brown, to discuss the Wyoming Legislature's work during the 2025 Legislative Session. Specifically, Secretary Gray will discuss his work with the Wyoming Legislature on his conservative election integrity reform agenda announced ahead of the 2025 legislative session, as well as legislative reforms to stop business fraud in Wyoming.

"I look forward to discussing the huge victories we achieved for election integrity in Wyoming, which are pivotal to strengthening the integrity, security, and safety of Wyoming's elections. It is so important that action has been taken to advance many of the conservative election integrity measures that the people of Wyoming want, and I look forward to discussing the achievements in this space, and our work with members of the Wyoming Legislature to bring through many reforms to attack business fraud and protect our state from foreign adversaries."
