Secretary Gray Defends Wyoming's Primary System, Sore Loser Laws

CHEYENNE, WY –Yesterday, Wyoming Secretary of State Chuck Gray filed his latest brief in support of Secretary Gray's recent motion for summary judgment to defend against a lawsuit challenging Wyoming's ban on crossover voting and Wyoming's "sore loser" law, which bans unsuccessful primary candidates from running as independents.

"Upholding the integrity of our primary election system has been a cornerstone of our administration's election integrity agenda," Secretary Gray said in a statement. "I am committed to upholding the law protecting Wyoming's very important primary system. We have prepared a vigorous defense to this lawsuit, and I will be working to defend the truth and to ensure the sanctity of our electoral process. These laws are constitutional, and I am confident that we will win this lawsuit."
