Secretary Gray Announces Top Five Election Integrity Priorities Ahead of 2026 Legislative Session

CHEYENNE, WY – Ahead of the 2026 Wyoming Legislative Session, Wyoming Secretary of State Chuck Gray announced his top five legislative priorities, including the following bills:

- Requiring pen to paper ballots as the default method of voting in Wyoming;
- Increasing Wyoming's chain of custody procedures by banning ballot drop boxes and ballot harvesting;
- Strengthening Wyoming's Voter ID law by eliminating Medicare, Medicaid, and student IDs as acceptable forms of identification for voting;
- Instituting hand tabulation verification of voting machines for recounts and audits; and
- Amending Wyoming's Constitution to ban dual citizenship for voting and holding office.

In a statement, Secretary Gray added, “As Wyoming Secretary of State and Wyoming's chief election official, I will continue our work on conservative, election integrity measures. Pen to paper ballots, improving chain of custody procedures, strengthening voter ID, and our other proposed election integrity reforms are common-sense and needed. As we prepare for the 2026 Legislative Session, I look forward to working with the Wyoming Legislature on these common-sense election integrity measures to serve the People of Wyoming by ensuring the safety and security of elections in Wyoming.”
